But then I hope that they may turn from their misgnided ways, and learn to see that the cause I espouse can be no other than the right one. I send them many thousand tracts daily.

Acd again, the longer I delay, the more chance there is for the Union sentiment to overcome the terrorism that crushes it down just now. It is well known to the editors of the Tribmac that Jeff. Davis and his Cablust are red-hot Union men, but are compelled to favor the rebel side ostension, in every town, tilinge, and hands.

The Union sentiment rages throughout Virginia, in every town, tilinge, and hands. South C rolius; but the reign of terror keeps it down. I have yet to see a Southern man who is not a good federalist at heart, and when the reaction comes all will be well.

I am waiting for the reaction.

Consulted me for advice.

The battle that I described in my last is supposed to have been much more disastrous than was reported. Owing, bowever, to the flat refusal of all the officers to make any official statement, it is utterly impossible to get any details. The following is the only list of killed and wounded that has been made out:

Sanday we went to the meetin house in full uniform. I had a stris time gittin into my military harness, as it was bilt for me many years ago; but I finally got inside of it, they it fitted me putty clost.—Howsever, onct into it, I lookt fine—in fact, aw-inspirin. I am sorry.

The statement recently made by some of

It too, have my little eccentricities in that line.

Some cell-brated military critics, high in authority, have found fault with me for withdrawing my army from Virginia, but all who are not internal fools, agree that it is the wisest plan I could have adopted. My policy is the preservation of life. The should be; though Beanregard has so far should be; though Beanregard has so far been anable to prevent his troops from using not only masked batteries and other relies of savage days, but ball-cartridges also, both for muskety and ordinance.

The 'Squire is all right at heart, but it takes longer for him tofill his venerable er, and instead of retiring quietly, as they should if I commanded them, have occupied the time I thus generously extend to them, in the erection of earth-works, the manufacture of arms and ammunition, and the perfection of their army.

The above prospectus has up to this date been published in only one of our leading papers for ten thays. No extra efforts to get stock taken have been made; yet the public so well appreciate the soundness of the enterprise, that over two bundred thousand dolfars of the stock has niready been taken. We would briefly state that the shares are 225 seach, padd in fall, without further, Hability; transferable by delivery; registered only when dividends are received. Any person having money to spare, can, by the purchas of shares in the Missouri Miuling Company make an investment that will pay largely; and hold stock that is readily converted into cash without loss. All communications to the Precident promptly maswered.
